Subject: New Workload Transfer Updates Web Page

USCIS has created a new Workload Transfer Updates page on our website where customers can keep track of workload transfers between our five service centers. Occasionally, we will transfer cases from one service center to another in order to balance workloads and ensure timely processing. In the past, we have issued a Web alert for each transfer. Now, the new Web page will list all of the transfers that we make as well as any additional information that customers should know about the transfer.

In order to receive updates on these transfers, please subscribe to the Alerts GovDelivery distribution list. In addition to updating the new page, we will issue a GovDelivery email with each transfer and will announce each transfer through social media.

To learn more, please visit our website.

Please do not reply to this message. See our Contact Us page for phone numbers and e-mail addresses.
