The Executive Office for Immigration Review Announces I<sup>3</sup>

FALLS CHURCH, Va. – The Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) today announced that it has launched eInfo, a web-based application that allows registered attorneys and fully accredited representatives to view their clients' case information. eInfo provides similar information to that which is currently available by telephone via the Automated Case Information Hotline (also known as the "1-800 phone number"). Users can retrieve information such as future hearing dates, decision information and case appeals.

eInfo brings EOIR's electronic applications to three, joining eRegistry and eFiling, and creating the new Internet Immigration Information application known as I<sup>3</sup>. I<sup>3</sup> offers electronic access and filing for the immigration courts and the Board of Immigration Appeals.

"EOIR continues to work toward a paperless environment," said EOIR Director Juan P. Osuna. "eInfo is the latest complement to our long-term plan to provide continuous electronic access to immigration proceedings."

EOIR has also updated its online Action Center, located on EOIR's homepage, to provide users easy access to the electronic applications portal. Please see the following link for more details and frequently asked questions: I<sup>3</sup> Frequently Asked Questions.

The Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) is an agency within the Department of Justice. Under delegated authority from the Attorney General, immigration judges and the Board of Immigration Appeals interpret and adjudicate immigration cases according to United States immigration laws. EOIR's immigration judges conduct administrative court proceedings in immigration courts located throughout the nation. They determine whether foreign-born individuals—whom the Department of Homeland Security charges with violating immigration law—should be ordered removed from the United States or should be granted relief from removal and be permitted to remain in this country. The Board of Immigration Appeals primarily reviews appeals of decisions by immigration judges. EOIR's Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer adjudicates immigration-related employment cases. EOIR is committed to ensuring fairness in all of the cases it adjudicates.
