Information on EADs for TPS Haiti

USCIS is automatically extending the validity of certain employment authorization documents (EADs) issued under TPS Haiti through Jan. 17, 2019. If you are a TPS beneficiary under the Haiti designation with an EAD based on your TPS status, your EAD may now be valid through Jan. 17, 2019 if your EAD includes a category code of A12 or C19, you have not received your new EAD, and:

- Your EAD expired on Jan.22, 2018, and you applied for a new EAD during the last re-registration period; or
- Your EAD expired on July 22, 2017, and you applied for a new EAD on or after May 24, 2017.

You may continue to use your current EAD as evidence of your work authorization through Jan. 17, 2019. Because you have a pending EAD application, USCIS will mail you an individual Notice of Continued Evidence of Work Authorization that provides additional evidence of this automatic extension of your EAD through Jan. 17, 2019 to show to your employer. If you have not received the Notice of Continued Evidence of Work Authorization, please contact USCIS at 202-272-8377 or the USCIS Contact Center number. You may provide your employer with this notice until you receive your Notice of Continued Evidence of Work Authorization.
