EOIR Announces 18 New Immigration Judges and 6 New Appellate Immigration Judges

WASHINGTON – The Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) today announced the appointment of 24 immigration judges—18 immigration judges who joined courts in California, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Texas, and Virginia, and six appellate immigration judges who joined the Board of Immigration Appeals in Falls Church, Virginia.

Acting Director Mary Cheng delivered remarks and Deputy Attorney General Lisa O. Monaco administered the oath of office during the investiture, which was held on Nov. 1 at the Department of Justice’s Great Hall in Washington, D.C.

EOIR continues to expand its immigration judge corps and welcomes qualified candidates from all backgrounds to join the agency. In addition to making a difference through service to our Nation, immigration judges join a diverse and inclusive workforce. Individuals interested in these critical positions are invited to sign up for job alerts that are sent when new opportunities become available.

Immigration judges and appellate immigration judges are career employees, and each one is selected after a thorough and competitive application process. Attorney General Merrick B. Garland officially appointed the following individuals as immigration judges: Anthony Brown, Chase Calder Cleveland, Irma Diaz, James C. Graulich III, Huy M. Le, Kristofer R. McDonald, Yvan Eugene Murad, Michael Martin Neal, Christine L. Olson, Christopher D. Pineda, Ana Lorena Quiros, Chevone Teranza Sanon, Sergio F.
